MARRYING FOR MONEY.

Reflections of a Young Atlanta Man on Poor Society Girls.

A young man in Atlanta, talking on this subject, said some very sensible things against marrying poor girls, says a writer in the Atlanta Constitution. "I don't know," he said, "any poor girl in society whom I could afford to marry. Though they have no money that gives them an income, none of them know any more about work than their wealthy sisters. I speak of the poor society girls, not of poor girls who make their living. The former you will invariably find has her gowns made and knows nothing of the practical economy of living. Now, how could I, just making a start in life, possibly support such a wife? It makes me sick to think of it, for I hate to see a woman poor. I hate her sad economies and self-sacrifices, and I hate to think of the lines beneath her eyes and about her brow that the stunted years would draw. I couldn't ask a woman like myself and with no means of helping me to spend the bright days of her youth in meager living and little economies. A poor girl, reared in idle luxury, as are all poor society girls, should herself marry a man of means if she wishes to be happy. For my part, I shall marry a girl who has something besides my income to support her during the early part of our married life. I don't want to marry a rich girl for selfish motives. I would gain nothing by it. It's simply for the woman's sake."

"And you don't care who the girl is, just so she is rich?"

"Indeed I do. She must be a woman I can love and admire; a pure, sweet woman, pretty and attractive."

"But suppose you should meet and fall in love with some poor girl?"

"I won't do it. I don't pay any attention to poor girls or allow myself to become interested in them. I say to myself, when I see one of this class unusually winning: 'Yes, you are very delightful, but you are not for me, and you've plenty of wealthy sisters who are just as bright, and out of whom I might find one to suit me and whom I suited.'"

A very cool and not a nonsensical one either of regarding the tender passion, provided it be carried out. I have often seen this theory proven satisfactorily by just such young men as the one I've quoted. This is the highest type of fortune-hunter, a type who wouldn't marry without love and equality. But the typical fortune-hunter careth not whether the girl be stupid, illiterate and homely—if she hath money in her pocket; he is so anxious to marry a fortune that he takes the first he can get with it. And the fact that there are so many more women than men on the marriage market to choose from makes a man's marriage for money an easier and surer venture.

AARON'S WEDDING SUIT.

It Was Just as Good as His Mother Could Afford to Buy.

Parents are sometimes loath to relinquish their parental authority, even when their sons and daughters are men and women, and ought to be learning to think and act for themselves, says the Youth's Companion. A tall, awkward and painfully different young man of twenty-one or twenty-two years went into a clothing store, accompanied by a short, active and keen-eyed little woman, whose self-possession was perfect.

"Let us see some black suits of some kind, something not too high, nor yet so cheap as to be good for nothing," said the woman to the clerk.

"Yes, ma'am. Is the suit for this young man?"

"Yes, it's for him. 'Ve you any idea 'bout what you want in the way of a suit, Aaron?"

"I'd like one of them shiny black suits," replied Aaron, meekly.

"Well, I don't know," said the mother, with a shake of her head. "I'm doubtful 'bout them wearin' well, an' I believe I'd better git you a good cassimere."

The clerk led the way to a counter piled high with inexpensive black suits, and the mother began: "How'd you like this, Aaron?"

"I don't know."

"Well, look at it, boy, and see whether you think you'd like it."

"I guess so."

"Do you like this one any better?"

"I don't know as I do."

"Well, I want you to make up your mind now, and not to wishin' you'd got something else as soon as you git home."

The amusement of the clerk was increased when, after carefully examining suit after suit without coming to a decision, the old lady said:

"You may show me something a little mite better'n any of these. I wouldn't be so pertikier, but it's his weddin' suit I'm gittin', an' I feel as though I'd like him to look a little half-way decent on such an occasion. Dye that you'd be satisfied to stand up in this one, Aaron?"

DISASTROUS STORM.

Damage to Shipping Along the Jersey Coast.

THE WHOLE COAST DISTURBED.

Weeks Constantly Being Washed Ashore—No Estimating the Damage.

The Great Storm.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—At 8 A. M. there has been no change in the position of the storm on the Atlantic Coast. The storm center is at Norfolk, where it has been since Tuesday morning.

A high northeasterly wind still prevails on the New England coast, with a maximum velocity of 34 miles per hour at Boston and 52 miles at Block Island. On the Virginia and North Carolina coast the wind is blowing from 25 to 30 miles per hour from the Northwest. High winds on the coast will continue during the day.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 12.—The piers of Brown & Co. and Luce Bros. gave way and were swept to sea. The U. S. marine hospital dashed its moorings and was sent spinning down. The life-saving station, forty feet above high water mark, was flooded and its foundation undermined. Hughesville, a suburb between the town and the beach, was submerged, and its 200 inhabitants fled for life, leaving all possessions behind. The first boat came ashore at 9 A. M., and then came another and another. The life-saving crew was reinforced by Hendopen and Rehoboth, whose crews went to work to save, and have labored almost unceasingly ever since. The crews of every vessel that struck were taken by these daring men, and but few lives were lost among the scores of men they handled.

In all twenty-seven vessels came ashore here. A vessel was sunk off Brown's shoals and all of the crew drowned but two, who went ashore on a raft. Another vessel sunk on the Shear's shoal, and it is not known whether the crew escaped. The total number of lives lost will probably exceed fifty.

Five of the eight men who composed the crew of the Bryan perished where the vessel struck on Brandywine shore. The mate and two seamen caught a spar and drifted all night. At day-break others were discovered, and one of the sailors was dead, his body still lashed to the spar. The survivors were picked up by a tug and brought to Lewes. There is great concern over the crew of the pilot-boat Ebe Tunnell. She put to sea on Monday, and has not been heard from. Pilots John Barnes, Lewis Bertrand, James Bowland and Barry Hickman, and the crew of eight men on board.

NEW JERSEY, Sept. 12.—The pilot-boat Edmund was blown across the bay and lies on the Jersey coast with her sails in tatters. An unknown schooner is ashore at Rehoboth, and the coast for miles down is reported strewn with wrecks.

LEWIS, Del., Sept. 12.—No language can picture the terrible scene along the coast. The wind is blowing almost a hurricane, driving rain with a force that cuts like hail. Within half a mile reach of the sand between beach and the coast is a tossing ocean bearing wreckage on every wave. Throughout the mist of spray storm-tattered sails and naked masts and a score of deserted and dismantled vessels are dimly seen. Since Monday the storm has raged without abating. To-day's dawn showed a hundred vessels which had sought refuge in the breakwater. The refuge is insufficient. By 11 o'clock the sea broke over the breakwater, wrecked the telegraph station, carried away the big fog bell and rusted shoreward, sweeping away Steamboat pier.

Three schooners were lost outside of the capes. A colored man and a German have come ashore as the survivors from these wrecks. They were on a raft from 5 P. M. last Monday to 9 A. M. yesterday. The other fifteen who composed the crews of these schooners are given up for lost.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 12.—It will take months for this city to recover from the loss the storm caused. The wind still blows from 35 to 40 miles per hour. It is still raining. The beach tides have not been large to-day, consequently unaccompanied by further damage. The meadows are still three or four feet under water.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—It is rumored that a large Sound steamer is on the rocks near Fort Schuyler. Nothing definite can be learned yet.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 12.—The officials of the New Haven Steamboat line say they have received no news of the steamer Continental being ashore off Fort Schuyler. She lay off Frog's Neck on Wednesday, but put back into New York and started out again this morning, and she has not since been heard from.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The National Line steamer England, from Liverpool, arrived to-day, after one of the roughest voyages ever encountered. At midnight on Tuesday one of the firemen was washed overboard and drowned.

The England was struck by the storm on Tuesday evening. The wind and sea were something terrible. Captain Healey says the steamer was almost turned over by the combined force of the wind and sea. She careened until the tips of her yards dipped into the water.

The storm about Over. NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The weather prophets here are out with the statement that by 6 o'clock this evening, New Yorkers will have seen the last of the storm.

McAuliffe the Winner. Special to the Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 11.—A fight to a finish, Queensbury rules, between Killen, heavy-weight champion of the Northwest, and Joe McAuliffe, ex-champion heavy-weight of the Pacific Coast, for a purse of $2,500—$500 to go to the loser—took place at the Golden Gate Club to-night. McAuliffe weighed about 203 pounds, and was seconded by Paddy Ryan and Con Riordan. Killen weighed 195 pounds, and was seconded by Professor Anderson and Dave Campbell.

Time was called at 9:50 P. M. Both men feinted with the left and landed short. Killen guarded himself well, and McAuliffe found no opening. McAuliffe got the first blow, a left-hander on the ribs, and after some feinting a right-hander on the jaw.

Second round—Exchanges were few and about even. McAuliffe landed a hard right-hander on Pat's ear.

Third round—McAuliffe in this round made two hard rushes, forcing Killen into his corner and punishing him about the head.

In the fourth round little fighting was done.

In the fifth round McAuliffe drove Killen into his corner, overpercuting him. Killen returned with a rush, but McAuliffe clinched. In a fierce left-hand swing, which McAuliffe cleverly avoided, Killen went heavily onto his hands. The round ended with a blow that dazed Killen, but McAuliffe didn't follow up his advantage.

In the sixth round McAuliffe drove Killen around the ring, guarding himself. Killen made a few fruitless rushes and McAuliffe hit him on the ear, sending him to the floor.

In the seventh round McAuliffe rushed Killen against the ropes, and the latter bent down, still holding to the ropes. While in this position McAuliffe uppercuted him with his left and Killen fell on his knees. Immediately the room was in a tumult. Killen's seconds and friends rose to their feet with cries of "fool." Killen remained down till ten seconds had expired.

It was some minutes before order was restored, when the referee gave his decision, which was that Killen was not down when McAuliffe struck him. The latter was accordingly declared the winner.

McAuliffe drew the only blood.

Corporal Tanner Resigns.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Commissioner Tanner's resignation was made public to-day. He says: "The differences which exist between the Secretary of the Interior and myself as to the policy to be pursued in the administration of the Pension Bureau have reached a stage which threatens to embarrass you to such an extent which I feel I should not call upon you to suffer, and as an investigation into the affairs of the Bureau has been completed and I am assured both by myself and by the Secretary of the Interior contains no reflection on my integrity as an individual or as an officer, I herewith place my resignation in your hands to take effect at your pleasure, to the end that you may be relieved of any further embarrassment in the matter."

President Harrison, in reply, accepts the resignation to take effect when his successor qualifies, and adds: "I do not think it necessary in this correspondence to discuss the causes which led to the present attitude of affairs in the Pension Office. You have been kindly and fully advised of my views upon the most of these matters. It gives me pleasure to state that, so far as I am advised, your honesty has not at any time been called in the question, and I beg to renew an expression of my personal good will."

CASCADE, Cal., Sept. 12.—There has been a big fire raging in the brush in the canyon, and for several days men have been watching it and trying to check it, but the wind changed to the north to-day and blew it up to the sheds. Everything is gone, bridges and sheds.

SUMMIT, Sept. 12.—The big fire at Cascade has burned down the bridge and about three-fourths of a mile of sheds, and it is still burning. The operator at Cascade says the wires are all burned down.

The Cardinal persuaded the directors to again consider the proposal, and postpone their decision.

Very Risky Indeed.

To tamper with symptoms indicative of growing kidney disorder, neglect for a brief time needful stimulation of the renal organs when their inactivity points, as it always and unmistakably does, to their eventual permanent disease, is certainly very risky indeed. This is, however, a risk that many persons perceptibly drifting into Bright's disease, diabetes, catarrh of the bladder, etc., constantly incur. So those who read, reflect and heed the lesson of recorded experience, the advisability of using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a diuretic, need scarcely more than a suggestion. No fact is more generally admitted by the medical profession and the public than its efficacy for the prevention of serious renal disease. The unmedicated exhalants of commerce, no matter how pure, heat or irritate, react prejudicially upon the kidneys when inactive. The Bitters subdue malaria, constipation and rheumatism.

This is the season of the year when the raw, cold winds create and have with the hands and complexion. Soft, white hands and a clear "peachy" complexion can be assuredly preserved by the frequent application of Dandelion's Specific. If rubbed into the skin well it leaves no greasy surface. The skin absorbs it. Sold by William Fittinger.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

The officers of the University are a little late in coming to the question of joining with the State Agricultural Society in the use of the grounds inside the speed ring for the Agricultural Experiment Station. We know personally that President Winters—and we believe other members of the Board—would have been glad, when the Society was struggling with a big debt and hesitated about asking for an appropriation to pay for the grounds, if an arrangement could have been made by which part of the large University appropriation could have been used to help out in fencing and clearing the land for joint use. No notice was taken of the matter at that time, and the Society cleared the ground of rock and brush, and fenced and ditched it ready for producing alfalfa or anything else. The Society naturally does not jump at the proposition to give away the advantages their Directors have gained by good management and hard work. They are responsible to the people for the success of the State Agricultural Society, and not for the University, and they probably can use every dollar of their income for the benefit of the State in their own department. The GAZETTE was an ardent advocate at the time of this plan to work the land together and save bonding the State to buy additional adobe land on the hill, which never can be made fit for such experiments as are needed, as well as to save dragging the Treasury for money to fix up the race grounds. But as things have shaped themselves, we can hardly blame the Society for taking care of its side of the case.

By the way, should not the matter have gone to the Board of Regents, as ex-officio managers of the Experiment Station, and let them deal with the Board of Directors of the Agricultural Society, instead of having members of the faculty carry on negotiations with outside associations.

It is announced that a contract has been let to a contractor of Kansas City for building a canal, at a cost of $4,000,000, from Bear Lake, in Idaho, southward 150 miles to Ogden. It is to be ten feet deep and forty wide, and its flow will be 17,500 gallons a second. In its course it will irrigate half a million acres. Besides this it will supply the water works for Ogden and all the smaller towns in its course. Bear Lake is thirty miles long by seven wide, and is so fed by the snows and springs of the mountains that it is practically inexhaustible.

HE TOOK THE WRONG MEDICINE.
Robert Stewart, of Petaluma, recently had a queer experience. He writes: "Carbuncles and boils afflicted my face and neck for weeks. Finally I procured a bottle of one of the leading sarsaparillas. To my surprise it made matters worse. This made me lose faith in sarsaparillas, but seeing a statement that Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla dried up boils and face eruptions instead of forcing more out as the potash sarsaparillas do, I bought a bottle. The effect was astonishing. The carbuncles and boils began to dry up, and in two weeks my face was as well and smooth as ever. My brother also took a bottle with the same benefit. ROBERT STEWART, 'Petaluma, Cal.'"
[Explanatory Note—The mineral basis of potash, which is the basis of nearly all other sarsaparillas, attacks the blood direct, hence forces impurities through the skin, creating more boils and pimples. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla acts oppositely. Its vegetable constituents stimulate the various secretory organs and thus eliminate all impurities through the natural channels, hence dries up pimples and skin eruptions at once. The above testimony is a case in point.]

DRY GOODS STORE.

THIS store is now being generally known all over the State of Nevada as the popular ONE PRICE dry goods house, and its proprietor, C. W. Booton, is well known as the

Revolutionizer of Prices and the Re-Adjuster of Values

—IN—

Staple and Fancy Dry Goods

Gents' Furnishings, Household Furnishings,

Ready Made Clothing

And Boots and Shoes.

Please note the various reasons by which I claim I have advantages over all competing houses.

1st. I buy for cash and cash only.

2d. I visit the markets in person frequently and buy my own goods myself for the lowest possible spot cash price.

3d. My aim and ambition is big business, quick sales and small profits. This is what I claim and what I desire for. Having this object in view to give everybody good value for their money, success is already achieved, as I challenge any one to dispute that I make the lowest prices.

4th. My store is the largest and best lighted of any in the city—the three large plate glass show windows which ornament the building would do credit to any large store in a large Eastern city, light being of great importance in any well regulated store.

5th. I engage the best and most experienced and skilled salesmen that can be found in this country. W. R. Lett has full charge of my store; his experience is second to none in this country, having had charge of departments for many years in the leading houses of New York City.

6th. I do just as I advertise; I do not advertise my goods at cost, as no intelligent person could swallow so silly an announcement as that; nevertheless, many of our merchants of to-day advertise under the head of selling goods at cost.

7th. All goods are marked in plain figures and no goods are misrepresented.

Having now given seven reasons why I can lead all competing houses in prices, I will venture still further to convince the general public by mentioning the contents of the different departments, thus showing that I carry an enormous and well-selected stock, which can only be fully realized by calling and examining the goods of the different departments.

In the Colored Dress Goods Department

I keep all the leading shades in plain colors, including Fine French Cashmires, French Camel's Hair, Beatrice Cloths, French Foule, Tricot Cloths, Tricotine Cloths, Albatros, Nuns' Veiling, French De-beiges, Fancy Striped Alpaca, in plaids and stripes. I keep all the leading patterns found in the market.

The Black Goods Department

Is well stocked with all the latest and best known brands of French Cashmires, French Camel's Hair, French Soliel, Albatros, Nuns' Veiling, Sicilian Cloths, and all the leading brands of Black Alpaca, Black and Colored Silks in all the different makes.

The Corset Department

Deserves special attention, as I carry all the leading makes, including the famous C. P. Corset, and also the P. D., which I sell at prices that defy competition.

The Kid Glove and Button Department

Are replete with all the shades that can possibly be obtained this side of the Rocky Mountains.

The Hosiery Department

Deserves special mention, as I have been supplying it during the past two weeks with the very best brands of Ladies' Cotton and also Wool Hosiery that are manufactured on this Coast. My stock of Ladies' Misses', Children's and Men's Hosiery is unsurpassed in the city. Passing on we come to Shoe Department.

This is a special branch that I have added to my business by special request of my customers, who continually urged me to put in a stock of Boots and Shoes, claiming, as they said—I using their own language—they were tired of paying high prices any longer. I subsequently added the above stock, and will say that my success in that department has superseded all my expectations. Men's and Boys' Shoes a specialty. Men's Shoes from $2.50 up.

In the Clothing Department

I cannot do it justice by venturing to describe the success that continually attends it. I can only add one passing remark, that the amount of clothing I have sold during the past year is a just guarantee that the public never fail to appreciate a ONE PRICE cash business. I sell good suits for men from $5.00 up.

In the Underwear Department,

Including Ladies' and Gents', I positively state that I sold more of these goods last season than any two competing houses. Knowing this, and then looking forward for an enormously increased trade in this line this coming Fall and Winter, I have spared no pains and have left nothing undone to secure one of the best selected and largest stock of Underwear ever brought to Reno. This true assertion will be more forcibly strengthened by anyone doubting it to call and examine the stock.

In the Domestic Department

I carry all the principal makes in Sheetings, Pillowcase Muslins, etc. Gingham and Calicoes in endless variety.

Thanking the people of Reno and the public in general for their kind patronage for the past year, and soliciting a continuance of the same, I remain, respectfully,

C. W. BOOTON,

Mr. McCabe is perfectly safe in making this offer, as more than a thousand bottles of this remedy are sold each day and it has never been known to fail in any case of colic, cholera morbus, dysentery, diarrhoea or bloody flux, when the plain printed directions were followed. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklin's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merit. S. J. Hodgkinson drugist.

PRACTICAL.

What a Farmer Has to Say About the Use of the Fair Grounds.

There is evident need of more ground for the Experiment Station. An effort is being made to secure a part of the Fair grounds for the use of that department of the University. From a statement in this morning's Journal there appears to be a disposition on the part of the Board of Directors of the Agricultural Society not to permit the use of the State grounds for that purpose. This position indicates that the Board considers the Society an agricultural one only in name. It is a cause of regret that there is more horse in the Association than anything else. The Government has appropriated $15,000 for the running expense of the station this year, and the State has contributed liberally for Fair purposes. If the Board can afford to take the position that $1,000 rent is more benefit to the State than the letting the use of the ground for experimental purposes, they will show their shortsightedness and belie the purposes for which the Agricultural Society was created.

The Fair was not created as a money making scheme. Its object is to encourage everything that will promote the prosperity of the State, especially the agricultural interests. In no way can that institution better serve that interest than in letting scientific men experiment on the grounds that have such practical adaptation to their work, while development, except in so far as $1,000 might be used for that purpose. It is hoped that the Board will not be so blind to a growing State interest as to deny the grounds to the Experiment Station, and by so doing cripple its usefulness.

HE TOOK TO THE SADDLE.

A Member of the Rose Coghlan Troupe Takes a Ride and Stuns Up Against the Mayor.

A male member of the Rose Coghlan troupe, who evidently hails from "merrie England," or, perhaps, from Boston, treated himself on yesterday to a horseback ride through the streets of Reno. The size of the horse and the figure of the gay cavalier were somewhat disproportionate, but what this defect detracted from the interest evinced in horse and rider by the untutored denizens of Reno was fully compensated while contemplating the truly and highly "English-hu-know" seat adopted by the devotee of the histrionic art. Upon the return of horse and rider to the stables the latter accented Hyman's with the remark:

"I say, me man, don't chu know that hif the Prince of Wales were to ride trough these 'ere streets, the town's people would lauff at 'im."

"Dam'd if I don't think they would, my friend, if they felt like it," replied the Mayor of Reno.

THE DUTY OF A NEWSPAPER.

Speech by Hon. W. H. Mills on the Relation of a Newspaper and the Public.

Hon. W. H. Mills of San Francisco delivered an address to the Press Association of California on the relation of the press to the public. He makes some good points, and they are given: "A newspaper is property; yet one owning it cannot own it absolutely to use as he would, for he is responsible to the public for its use. We have the rural and metropolitan press. The metropolitan journalism has a franchise equalled by no other, or that at all compares with it. It towers above all railroad and transportation and all other aggregate powers." He illustrated this by a sketch of the growth and power of the Associated Press. He drew a graphic picture of the gathering and transmission of news and the power springing from ability to publish news ahead of its dates of occurrence. The whole globe, you feel is thus brought under your daily observation. So the power of the metropolitan press and news associations is subject to limitations inherent in the magnitude of the business. In rural journalism there is no limitation. Any worthless fellow can come into the field of any really good, hard-working, deserving paper, and by the credit a clean shirt gives buy his paper and get out a first number from a job office. The rural press wants a franchise that will augment in value the older it gets—that franchise you can get only by organization; have that organization represented in San Francisco and New York, and the rural press will get two and three times what it now gets for advertising. Then the new fellow cannot come in and crush the individual paper, because he cannot get into your association. He warned the journalist not to cheapen his business, not to educate the communities that the wares of rural journalism are worth little, to take care that the people are not educated to believe that space is nothing of cost, that the rural newspaper man stands a mendicant, hat in hand, begging for the right to live. Let journalists remember that independence in journalism means profitability in journalism. They must have the profitability, and they must secure it. Mr. Mills thoroughly exposed the folly of advertising in books and special sheets, directories and wrappers and pamphlets, by statements of friends that all on the floor knew to be correct statements. The place to advertise is in the legitimate, regularly established newspapers. He raked the people fore and aft for contributing thousands of dollars to the fellows who come into towns and cities and get up special editions of special sheets, no one knows are ever distributed, and thus clean up tens of thousands of dollars that if distributed through the twelve months of the year in the regular papers would have been the only wise action. The rural press wants a franchise, he repeated; it wants to be understood as indispensable to community life; it wants the right recognized of the rural press to be sustained and built up. If the community makes the press of a town five times as valuable to-morrow as it is to-day, that community will get five times the benefit from it. The weak-faced, worn, threadbare newspaper of a town does the town harm from the time it leaves the press until the last poor copy is worn out. A town with such a paper ought to sue it for libel. The community, then, owes the rural press a franchise; if it won't give it, organize and command it. Educate the people to pay, and pay well for newspaper values; educate them to leave the transient and outside sheets alone. Gather the statistics of the waste of money on these outside sheets and show the people how their earnings are thrown away by neglect of the local press, upon which much of the vitality and energy and progressive vigor of the country depends.

ATTEMPTED INCENDIARISM.

Last evening shortly after dark an incipient blaze was discovered at the Pavilion by several of the residents of that vicinity, and one woman is certain that just before the fire broke out she saw a Chinaman run from the building. The neighbors who hastily gathered managed to subdue the flames, which in a few minutes would have been beyond the control of the whole fire department. The blaze was started between the water-closet and the main building.
